Activated Charcoal – Its many Uses

Over 2,000 years ago Hippocrates, the father of modern medicine, used charcoal to treat anthrax, chlorosis, and, epilepsy. Today, Activated Charcoal is used to purify the air we breathe, the water we drink, the food we eat, and the very blood in our bodies – Medical grade Charcoal is the purifying agent in the newest kidney and liver dialysis units.

Come hear author/speaker John Dinsley tell how Charcoal Therapy is used today throughout the healthcare community to treat a number of health problems. Hear testimonies from healthcare professionals, veterinarians, travelers, missionaries, farmers, and your neighbor next door. This PowerPoint presentation also includes demonstrations on how to make charcoal poultices for infected wounds, insect bites, diabetic ulcers, and more.

Do you know why more and more Dentists use a charcoal mouthwash before removing mercury amalgam fillings? Do you know why some Agri-businesses include charcoal as a supplement in animal feeds? Do you know why the International Space Station and nuclear submarines carry activated charcoal onboard? Do you know which kind of activated charcoal is the remedy of choice for radioactive poisoning?

Come, bring a friend, and hear the amazing answers!
